

CURTIS STANTON BROWN

July 21, 1974 - March 23, 2018

No obituary found for this tribute.

Tribute Wall

IB

“ Hey this is really late and I didn't even know this existed but thank you for sharing the photos, and Laura's story. I am Ireland Brown, Curtis only biological daughter and he was an amazing dad. He cultured me and told me stories, we had amazing adventures and conversations. I wanted to say I am blessed to have had him as a father and as a best friend. He once told me that if anything did happen to him or if he passed away to never be upset about it, "I lived a full life...I loved basically every moment of it, the love, the hardships, the reality and cruel parts of it all. I lived and breathed all of it. I am really content with what I've done". words said by him to the best of my memory. I was inspired by him to always keep going forward into the right path. I am currently enrolled in college earning my bachelors degree in natural science.

Just some stuff I wanted to say because you two had the courage to create this little thing about him and I thought it'd be nice for you to know.

*Sincerely,
Ireland Brown*

Ireland Brown - August 24, 2022 at 09:53 PM

FDT

“ 17 files added to the album Curtis Pictures

Eli Stratton - August 05, 2018 at 01:30 PM

“ I just heard about Curtis passing a few days ago. But it took a lot of internet searching to finally find the obituary and this page. I desperately want to reach out to his parents to express my sympathy in his passing. Curtis was my first boyfriend when I was 14. He was in 7th grade at Diegueno and I was in 8th grade at Oak Crest. He was so full of energy. Always skate boarding around town. Even all the way to my house in Cardiff. I still thought about him from time to time. He sure was trouble. So cute and persuasive. I am so curious who he grew up to be. I last saw him at 7-11 in Village Park when I was about 17. He had turned into a man. It was hard to believe that he was the same person. But his eyes were always the same. I have attached the image that was sent to me by my step father, posted by Eli Stratton. I recognized him immediately.

I hope you (his parents) are doing okay. I can't imagine losing both my girls. Take care and know that he is missed!

Love,
Laura Erker (formerly Resor)

Laura Erker - August 05, 2018 at 10:43 AM