“ My Sandra Dandra Dee, I have so so many memories, but I think the one that stands out the most. When we went to San Diego, and rented the red, convertible mustang. We had our hair flying in the wind, sunglasses on, singing at the top of our lungs. We were two hot tamales. Even though it was the middle of March, and we froze our butts off. Had the heater on high, and the top still down. I will see you again, some sweet day my angel. I love and miss you.
